

Contributions Monitoring Service Overview

What is the Contributions Monitoring Service?

Pre-trade, contributed data has come under the regulatory spotlight. Elements of MiFID II and FRTB, specifically relating to transparency requirements and the initiative to expand the consolidated tape coverage, require banks to create standardised definitions and a clear data strategy. This includes the interrogation of contributed prices for illiquid instruments.

CJC provide industry experts to locate:

- What and where pre-trade, price sensitive data is generated
- Where that data is published and aggregated to
- Which end users should or should not view it

CJC can also provide an integrated database of all your contributed data, with the ability to interrogate information that will maintain governance.

Why do you need this?

- Have you ever asked the vendors for a copy of your inventory? If so, did they provide it?
- Are parts of your business selling contributions to index providers?
- What oversight of contributions to benchmarks do you have in place?
- Are you unknowingly haemorrhaging your data?
- Do you know what vendors receive your data
- Who controls those relationships?
- Who is in charge of owning and permissioning your data? Can your competitors see it?

If you struggle to answer these questions, you may be exposed to leakage and non-compliance and you could be losing commercial opportunities.

What are the aims of the project?

- Improve data governance
- Improve operational processes
- Reduce risk
- Reduce costs and leakage
- Locate commercial opportunities

How does the project work?

CJC will conduct a 12 week project with discovery, data gathering, analysis and reporting phases for all asset classes. We will talk to the business, market data, IT and compliance, understand your contributed data environment, front to back, inside and out and make recommendations for change.

Further information

- London - +44 (0)203 328 7600
- New York - +1 646 751 5194
- Hong Kong - +852 3478 3712
- Singapore - +65 682 95323
- sales@cjit.com
- Contributions Monitoring Service

